The Strait of Canso, located between Cape Breton Island and the mainland of Nova Scotia, constitutes a significant waterway that functions as a prominent industrial and marine center. Its strategic position as a conduit to the North Atlantic facilitates efficient trade between North America, Europe, and beyond, rendering it an optimal choice for enterprises seeking expansion opportunities. Port Hawkesbury Pier is located in the Town of Port Hawkesbury, on the eastern side of the Strait of Canso. This L-shaped pier is adjacent to the Strait of Canso Yacht Club, offers 5 to 6 metre depths along the wharf face, and provides excellent berth space for service vessels, tugs, barges, and pilot boats.
